

Is Soil a Renewable Resource?

1. Soil is a non-renewable resource because it doesn't change

2. Soil is a non-renewable resource because it takes a long time to form

3. Soil is a renewable resource because you can make or buy it.

4. Soil is a renewable resource because it's made from plants

Adapted from Science Learning Hub (2015).

This resource has been developed by Primary Industries Education Foundation Australia, Soil Science Australia and Soils For Life, supported through funding from the Australian Government's National Landcare Program.